As we know this series was printed by the old wet process on a flat bed press, printed twelve and eighteen notes to a sheet. This offset inking error occurred on the reverse side of this note after the second printing stage. In the first printing the reverse plates of the notes are printed, the following day the sheets are ready for the second printing of the obverse plates on the sheets. After each sheet is printed cardboard is placed over it to protect the other sheets from the wet green ink. Evidently the cardboard was inserted improperly and the unprotected portion of this note procured this offset inking. There also is a third and concluding printing; this is an overprinting on the face of the note. It consists of seal, serial numbers, two signatures, series, lettering, etc.

The rarity of a note is a function of the number of misprinted notes which pass by the inspector and flow into the hands of the public. Courtesy of Henry J. Wlodyga

Gentlemen:

I received my first copy of your magazine yesterday and enjoyed reading its contents, especially "From Your Editor's Desk." I must say that dull soft white page stock will be an excellent change since the shine on the present issue has an amazing glare under light.

I would like to know what "Member of M.A.N.A., C.N.A., and A.N. A." stands for as I noticed it at the end of some of the classified ads and it has me guessing.

Dear Sir,

In the July 1961 issue of Coin Press No. 20 you show an Indian Head Cent 1908/1808, presumably to be rare by the sender, Mr. Peter Polovnikoff of Nelson, B.C.

I was of the same opinion many years ago when I found one of these cents, but since then I have found four (4) more of them with the 9 curled up and joined to the top loop in forming an 8. In my opinion I would not call it very rare (who knows it could be), but it could be called a variety. I also have an 1894 Indian Cent with the 9 which is curled up and joining the top loop in forming an 8 (1894/1884). I find The Coin Press very informative on new variety of coins. I would not be without this publication. I would strongly suggest to all new collectors to subscribe to The Coin Press.

I have heard you on WABC radio program with Big Joe. I am a constant listener to Big Joe; the next time you see Big Joe give him my regards.

STANLEY STEVENS

SUMNER, IOWA

Dear Sir:

I am 13 years of age and have been collecting for almost four years. Just recently I was reading an article on 1945 microscopic s dimes. I was looking through my 45-s's and was I surprised to find one! But comparing my others with it, I noticed a slight difference in the shape and position in two of the other dimes. The s in one was higher from the rim and almost touching the third leaf of the sprig. The other was thicker in proportion and closer to the rim. I compared both with the micro s and neither was the same. All I have are these three and I wondered if anyone has found either of the coins I was describing and if so, which one is rarer and which is common.

I enjoy your magazine and plan to get a subscription as soon as I raise some money.

Thank you,

—Scott Cole

1961-D CENT
Enclosed find a 1961-D cent with what seems to be a bar connecting the last six and one in the date. I have found 262 of these in a bag of 5,000 from the Denver Mint. Could this be a die variety? If so, what would be the value of them in your estimation? I have been a subscriber to your publication for about three years and enjoy it very much.

—Fred Harding

Editor's Note: This is the result of a chipped die. Value, whatever the market will bring. There is no set or standard value on mint errors.

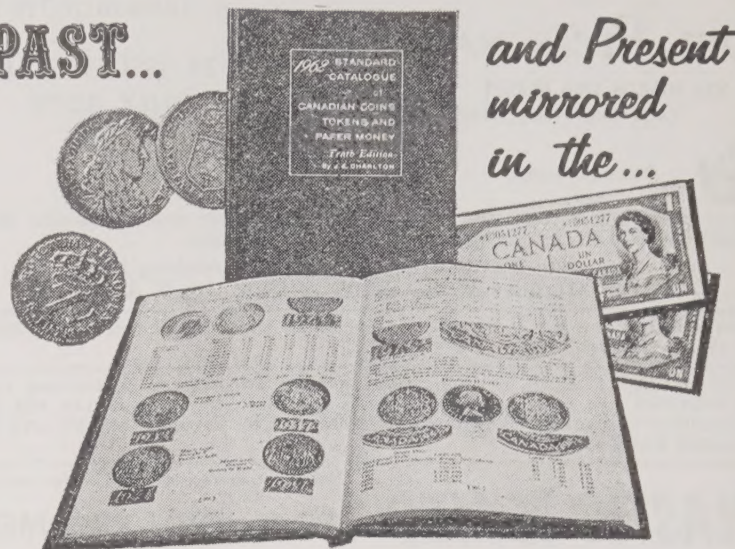

NEW DISCOVERIES & WHAT THEY MEAN TO THE HOBBY

I noted with interest your coverpicture on the July 1961 issue. Under a picture of an 1867/7 Indian cent you mention that this is a new discovery. I would like to call your readers attention to this as not being so as it was discovered by us several years ago. You will note that the February-March 1959 issue of "Empire Topics" describes in detail, the 1867/7 cent.

—Q. David Bowers

Editor's Note: We thank Mr. Bowers for this information. I might add for all concerned any new varieties, photos, articles, etc. should be sent to a publication for print; all collectors would be pleased to hear of anything new. Don't keep it a secret, let us know. We'll publish it if it adds new interest and betterment of our hobby.

10th Edition STANDARD CATALOGUE OF CANADIAN COINS TOKENS and PAPER MONEY

by James E. Charlton outstanding authority on Canadian coinage

Many new photographs, additional information and the latest prices make the 10th edition of this standard catalogue again the number one book in its field. Almost 300 years of Canada's history are mirrored in its coins, tokens and paper money from the early French colonial coins of 1670 to the current issue of Queen Elizabeth II bank notes. It also covers regular issues of Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Only Whitman gives you all three: authority in content, unmatched quality in printing and a popular price.

Spanish Colonies Used "Cob Money"

EVENING GAZETTE
By ED VASKAS

The term "cob money" refers to the crude gold or silver coins issued in the Spanish colonies of the New World, in Mexico and South America, more than 200 years ago.

It comes from the Spanish Cabo de barra, which means "cut from a bar." The coins were made by slicing off parts of a metal bar. This, naturally resulted in irregular borders, and made it easy for many to clip or shave them.

After being cut they were struck with a hammer on rough dies. The designs were certainly not pretty, and the coins were often undated, but those who specialize in this type of coin can give a fairly definite period to individual pieces.

Even when dated the thousandth place was usually omitted, so that a coin of 1724 would have the numbers 724. Letters on these coins are not sharp even when they have seen little circulation.

The first cob money is thought to have been issued about 1580 or 1600, and some have been found dated as late as 1770. There are also half cobs, or four real coins, and quarter cobs, two reals.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C. SECRET SERVICE CHIEF RECEIVES HIGH AWARD FROM SECRETARY DILLON

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon today conferred the Department's most coveted honor — the Exceptional Service Award — upon U. E. Baughman, retiring Chief of the U. S. Secret Service, calling him "one of the world's best and most successful law enforcement officers."

The award was made by Secretary Dillon at 12:30 p.m. today, with Secret Service and Treasury representatives and members of Chief Baughman's family present.

The Treasury's Exceptional Service Award — manifested by a gold medal, a lapel device and an inscribed certificate signed by the Secretary of the Treasury — is conferred only upon those Treasury employees who distinguish themselves by exceptionally valuable service within or beyond their required duties.

Among the standards for this award are two which Chief Baughman has particularly displayed during his 13-year term as head of the Secret Service, Secretary Dillon said. These are demonstrations of outstanding courage and voluntary risk of personal safety in the face of danger, and the development and improvements of methods and procedures which accomplished extraordinary results for the Treasury Department.

Secretary Dillon said Chief Baughman's best known job was that of protecting the President.

"You and your agents have carried out this exacting assignment in more corners of the globe than during any other comparable period.

"The proof of how well you have done your job is clear: although they have been subjected to threats and even attacks, your distinguished charges have come through safe and unharmed."

Secretary Dillon congratulated Chief Baughman for his contributions to the Secret Service in less dramatic but none the less effective ways. The development and use of new detection techniques has resulted in tighter enforcement during a period characterized by a sharply rising crime rate, including those crimes connected with counterfeiting and forgeries of money, Government checks, bonds and other securities, which are the special responsibilities of the Secret Service. Also, Chief Baughman has launched new and more intensified training programs for members of the Secret Service.

The Treasury head also praised the Chief for promoting closer cooperation with local and State enforcement agencies within the United States, and effective coordination with world-famous police organizations of other nations.

The Treasury Secretary concluded by telling Chief Baughman he had "earned the respect and admiration of the men you have led."

Frightening Figures

By KALVART K. TIDWELL, A.N.A. 16320

Man's ability to overcome obstacles and achieve his wants by putting his thinking mind to work has placed him at the top and set him apart from all other living organisms. Good performances have built for him a lasting heritage — bad, a forgotten past.

We sense a direct connection with that of the latter part of the above comment and the party who attempts to alter a date, mint mark, or otherwise change the appearance of a coin to fake the possession thereof, and/or to dispose of same as being the genuine article.

Of late a number of 1937-D Buffalo nickels have shown up as being counterfeits of the three-legged variety. A power glass will denote a disturbance of metal — a buffing off of the inside front leg from knee down. In the usual try there is a cupping in of the field about. The buffing has gone a bit too deep and wide, disturbing the sprig of grass to the front. A comparison with the real McCoy usually shows too complete a removal.

Of course, there are other tell-tales to determine the genuine coin. The buffalo's head is smaller and the two hind legs are thinner and less rounded out. There is a faint showing of the hoof. These are the essentials.

Few coins in the annuals of Red Book history have advanced in price as has the three-legged variety of the 1937-D Buffalo Nickel. The first and second edition (1947 and 1948) failed to recognize and list the item. Moving up to the seventh edition, for joint portions of the years, 1954 and 1955, the following listings are given: good, $1.75; fine, $3.00; uncirculated, $10.00. The ninth edition, 1956, lists the prices respectively, $3.00, $6.00 and $15.00. The 13th edition, 1960, lists the item respectively, $8.00, $15.00 and $42.50, sandwiching in the extra fine condition at $25.00, with the caution, "Beware of counterfeits (removed leg)". The 14th edition, 1961, lists the item respectively, $10.00, $16.50, $30.00, and $50.00, with caution, "Beware of removed leg."

Present coin values simply stagger the imagination of those who have collected for a number of years. In main, the scarcity rating of certain items has increased a thousand-fold due to the growing number of new collectors. It is frightening to figure today's profit on genuine, uncirculated 3-leggers that we bought three for a dollar when the item first became noticeable.

AUGUST SPECIALS:

We are planning a weeks vacation beginning on the 26th so get your orders in early. Will have the later ones filled by Sept. 5th so there won't be too much delay. Thanks for the terrific response to our July ad.

New U. S. Stamps Out Soon Will Honor Naval Aviation, Nursing

Four new United States commemorative stamps recommended by the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee will be issued soon by the Post Office Department.

The four stamps will honor the 50th anniversary of naval aviation, the 50th anniversary of the workmen's compensation law, the centenary of the birth of Artist Frederic Remington, and the 100th anniversary of the nursing profession.

The naval aviation stamp will be issued Aug. 20 to coincide with the meeting of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences-Navy in San Diego. A stamp to be issued on Labor Day will be dedicated in Milwaukee and will mark the anniversary of the effective date of the first successful workmen's compensation legislation, passed in Wisconsin in 1911.

Will Honor Remington

Remington, known for his art work on the American West, will be honored Oct. 4 with a multi-colored stamp featuring one of his outstanding paintings. It will be the first multi-colored reproduction of a piece of fine art on an American postage stamp.

The multi-colored stamp honoring the nursing profession stems from the time in 1861 when formalized training for nurses in professional schools began in this country. The time, place and design of the stamp will be announced later.

In addition to these 4 stamps, the Post Office Department promises that there will be 2 more commemorative issues this year, bringing the total new stamp issue in 1961 to 15.

BOOK REVIEW

Standard Catalogue of Canadian Coins, Tokens and Paper Money, Fully Illustrated, 1670 to Date (Tenth Edition, 1962), by J. E. Charlton, Racine, Wisconsin; Whitman Publishing Company, 126 pages, $1.00 in the U.S., $1.25 in Canada.

Mr. Charlton's tenth edition, the polished and definitive work one would expect it to be, is off the press, and a first reaction must be to marvel at the growth of this publication and of Canadian numismatics in the turbulent decade that these ten editions represent. It seems clear that the two have gone hand in hand, that the first "Charlton" placed Canadian collecting on a sensible foundation, and that subsequent editions have improved on modest beginnings developed pricing to a fine art, and attracted ever-growing numbers to the numismatic fold.

Such developments clearly have shaped the new tenth edition, the third to be superbly produced by the well-known Racine firm. The new, low retail prices, the publisher states are simple facts of practical economics: huge press runs on the new edition have permitted reduction in the unit cost to the level of the book's American counterpart. The buoyant economy and high interest in Canadian numismatics are reflected in the advanced price listings, but cutbacks are indicated where the previous year's market proved somewhat out of hand, notably on certain key silver dollars. Elsewhere the rule of thumb that choice specimens of the scarce dates and varieties imply record high prices has continued to be borne out. (The two favourites of misguided change searchers, the 1921 5 cents and 50 cents, list at $1,100 and $4,000, respectively.) The catalogue quotes mint statistics and values for five grades of the classic token, the decimal sequences, and the government paper currency of Canada, including Newfoundland.

The table of contents is in line with what Mr. Charlton considers the collecting interests of ninety per cent of his potential readers. His aim, he acknowledges in correspondence, is "to concentrate on the decimal coinage, popular tokens, and government notes, to improve on the illustrations and text, to revise the values each year, and to keep down the cost of the book." Virtually all of the line drawings of earlier catalogues have been replaced by photographs in the tenth edition: the few remaining "have not yet become available for photography" (offering interesting insight into the rarity and desirability of certain key tokens), but the publisher hopes to complete the photographic treatment in the next edition.

The book sets out to be compact, inexpensive, easy to work with — and admirably succeeds. The experienced collector will find himself working with a familiar and quite indispensable tool; the newcomer will have a highly authoritative sourcebook on the principal varieties of the most popular Canadian series. Mr. Charlton's unparalleled experience with contemporary Canadian numismatics couple with the Whitman imprint and a distinguished panel of contributors in assuring a truly definitive work, with authoritative pricing.

The quite unprecedented popular interest in Canadian numismatics, in Canada, in the United States, and in Commonwealth nations guarantee the new "Charlton" the reception it so fully deserves.

—Harold Don Allen

BUYS CAR FOR $75, THEN FINDS $7,000

Unemployed until recently, Richard Thurman, 21, of Grand Rapids, Minn., bought a used car for $75. The 1951 machine broke down before he drove it home.

Towing the machine into his yard, he undertook to repair it himself. In the process, under the truck mat, he found $7,000 in bills of many denominations. The money was turned over to the sheriff's office.

Officers said the money will be returned to Thurman if its ownership cannot be traced.

COUNTERFEIT BILLS GIVEN FOR KISSES

Police in Mobile, Ala., arrested Billy Gene Wilson, of Indianapolis, for possession of $8,000 in counterfeit $20 bills. Wilson is reported to have visited restaurants, flashing a large roll of the phony bills and offering waitresses and several women customers one bill for each kiss.

The number of women who accepted Wilson's proposal is not known. He was turned over to federal authorities.

In regards to the 1908/1808 Indian Cent I am happy to report that I have found two and also the same closed nine in an 1897 cent and an 1901 cent. So you see the Coin Press Magazine has been able to again bring something new to the coin collector's eyes. I feel sure that my letter will not be the only response to the above items.

Thanking you and looking forward to many more finds.

Your item "Steel Copper Shell Case," July (1st edition) 1961 of Coin Press, confirms my contention, the mint had struck one cent trial pieces before adopting the white steel cents for the 1943 issue.

I have in my possession a 1943 cent (Denver mint), and from all outward appearances it is not of the zinc-steel alloy or white steel issue of 1943.

I would greatly welcome and appreciate any further information on the subject. I remain

Danegeld, The Tribute Coin

By ARTHUR F. GIERE

The Danegeld is the tribute penny which was a well-known coin in Europe in the year 1000 A.D. during the reign of Aethelred II. It was a metal coin somewhat larger than our present United States dime and it was also thicker. On one side of this coin was the impression of a Maltese cross and on the other side, a bust of Aethelred II. There were various other designs, too. Enormous quantities of this coin were struck and circulated; they were usually minted in denominations of 1 or 2 shillings.

How did these coins come to be called Danegeld or Danegold? This word is made up of two parts. The word Dane which means Danes and other Scandinavians and the German word geld which means to yield or emasculate, and later on this came to be known as a coin or tribute money.

Danegeld was really a land tax originally levied on the English Viking invaders. It was in operation for about 200 years and was assessed on the annual basis.

The tax was originally 1 shilling and later doubled to 2 shillings on "every hide of land." A hide of land was enough land to support a family; the quantity of land varied with the nature of the soil and the different periods, as from 80 to 120 acres. In the Domesday Book, a normal hide was 120 acres. In fact, it was defined in the law books by early authorities as the amount of land that one ox could plow in a year.

King Aethelred II was king of England and he was often sur-named "The Unready" because he foolishly gave away money to the invading hordes of Danes; he lacked good judgment and he was a coward.

In the last part of the 10th century, the Danes and Vikings renewed their effort to lambaste the English with great fury. Rather than fight them the king began the practice of buying off the Danes with money.

After repeated payments of tribute money, he effected a general massacre of the Danes in England. Such revenge only rendered his enemies more violent. Later the Danes carried fire and sword throughout the whole country. However, they were again bribed to depart, but the Danes obliged the nobles to swear allegiance to King Swend as King of England, while the coward Aethelred fled to Normandy with his family. When King Swend died, Aethelred returned and he married this gentleman's widow. His reign is described as the worst and the most shameful in English history. Later the King of England known as Canute, came upon the throne and he was a man of much force and energy. He was not only King of England but of Denmark, a part of Sweden and at last of Nor-way.

The best known story of Canute is that of his ordering the sea to obey him and it is told by an old monk named Henry of Huntingdon. One day, as the story goes, Canute sat down in a chair upon the beach below the highwater mark, and bade the tide stop rising. "O sea, I am thy lord. My ships sail over thee whither I will, and this land against which thou breakest is mine. Stay thou thy waves, and dare not to wet the feet of thy lord and master."

But the ocean tide kept on, and it wet the royal feet before they could get out of the way; and it is said that Canute was so humbled that he never wore his crown again.

The great poet Rudyard Kipling wrote a poem about this mat-ter. Here it is:

It is always a temptation to a rich and lazy nation,
To puff and look important and to say:
"Though we know we should defeat you, we have not the time to meet you.
We will therefore pay you cash to go away."

And that is called paying the Dane-geld;
But we've proved it again and again,
That if once you have paid him the Dane-geld
You never get rid of the Dane.

It is wrong to put temptation in the path of any nation,
For fear they should succumb and go astray;
So when you are requested to pay up or be molested,
You will find it better policy to say:

"We never pay anyone Dane-geld,
No matter how trifling the cost;
For the end of that game is oppression and shame,
And the nation that plays it is lost!"

Mr. Moneypenny and the Psychiatrist

Psychiatrist Mr. Moneypenny what you really need is a good hobby.

Mr. Moneypenny . . . I have a very nice hobby. I collect Blobs, Bushes, Cracked skulls and things like that.

Psychiatrist I see. (perplexed)

Mr. Moneypenny . . . You know Cracked Skulls are not easy to pick up these days.

Psychiatrist I can imagine. How do you manage to acquire these rare things?

Mr. Moneypenny . . . Well, as I said it is difficult. But last week I found one in a trunk in my friend's attic. He doesn't like them. Says they are hard to dispose of. So I gave him a Double Date in exchange.

Psychiatrist You don't say so, a double date! I assume therefore you don't like girls.

Mr. Moneypenny . . . Oh yes, I sure do. I have one that's quite old. She has a Spiked Chin, but she has a small hole in the head.

Psychiatrist That's TWO bad.

Mr. Moneypenny . . . It sure is. What I would like to get for my collection is a Three legged buffalo, a Bugs Bunny, and a Flying eagle.

Psychiatrist I wonder if you would get up and let me lay down there for a few minutes.

Mr. Moneypenny . . . O.K. Doc. I'll go in the waiting room and read my Coin Press Magazine. They usually have some nice coin bargains.

Amputee's Collection Stolen

I just want to report that my apartment had been broken into and my entire collection (worth over $5,000.00) had been stolen. I am an amputee of World War II and not able to work.

It took years to collect and just minutes to lose. The robbery occurred Saturday afternoon about 1 P. M. to 3 P. M. July 15th. They just put me out of business—no insurance, no nothing. I am a member of the Liberty Bell coin club and Wm. Penn Coin Club of Philadelphia, and also a member of M.A.N.A.

I am 50 years of age and it will be very hard for me to start over again. I'm a subscriber to Coin Press Magazine and enjoy it very much.

Washington Born Feb. 11, 1732

Joseph Fleming of Bloomfield, N. J. reports the omission of 1833 Large and Small letter cents in the new edition of the Red Book.

The Whitman Publishing Co. states this was a typographical error and the variety will be listed in the next edition.

They go on to relate an interesting story concerning George Washington. The Washington pieces claim that Washington was born on Feb. 11th, 1732. It seems that in 1582 there was a difference of ten days between the Julian and tropical year, and Pope Gregory XIII ordered Oct. 5th should be called Oct. 15th and every fourth year thereafter should be a leap year.

This new Gregorian calendar was not in use in Britain and our country until 1752. This change in the calendar accounts for the fact that although Washington was born on Feb. 11, 1732, his birthday is celebrated on February 22nd according to our use of the Gregorian calendar today.

COLLECTOR'S CROSS COUNTRY SURVEY FINDS 1955-S CENT SCARCE

During a recent trip to California, I was so intrigued by the difference in distribution between the coins on the west coast and those in the Delaware Valley around Philadelphia that I decided to make a study of this. I therefore obtained 2,000 pennies from banks in San Francisco and compared them with a similar number from banks in Philadelphia. All coins were in non-reusable paper wrappers guaranteeing that they had not been touched subsequent to wrapping by the bank. To double-check that these pennies had not been sorted, I sorted them in batches of 500 and compared each lot with the others statistically. All tests indicated that these coins were representative of those in general circulation in the areas from which they were purchased.

The comparative distributions are given in the accompanying table. The difference is striking, particularly in the "S" mints. I recall vividly how much I searched before I found my first 1955-S penny. Here, in only 2,000 pennies, I found 8 of these, all in fine condition or better.

A similar situation exists in those coins minted before 1941. Although only 63 of these were found on the West coast, compared to 180 on the East coast, the 63 contained 33, or more than half, that were "D" or "S". By contrast the 180 from the East contained only 2, a 1940-D and a 1936-S. Although no key dates were found, it appears obvious that one's chances of finding a 1909-S or 1931-S would be much better in coins from the West than those from the East.

This data indicates that pennies tend to stay pretty much in one place. Even after 20 years, relatively few "S" and "D" mints have made their way to the East, and not many more "P" coins have reached the West, in spite of the larger number that were placed in circulation in the years prior to 1941.

This picture is obscured by the discontinuance of the San Francisco mint, and the shipping of coins minted in Denver to the East coast, so the Philadelphia mint could concentrate on foreign coinage. Comparing the pictures prior to 1956 makes this somewhat clearer. Only 15 "S" coins reached the East Coast, while 499 are in circulation on the West coast where they were introduced.

The coin collector who likes to find his own coins by searching through coins in circulation would do well to try coins from other parts of the country. One way of doing this might be for coin clubs in widely separated sections of the country to "trade" bags of unsorted coins. I can assure them it will be a rewarding experience!

Ancient Religious Pieces Available

Evening Gazette
By ED VASKAS

If you are interested in acquiring a set of coins which have to do with religion, you may still compile a good collection including ancient pieces, for a moderate price.

An arrangement of such specimens would be an asset to any collection, and nice exhibition material especially when used with the historic background of each coin.

Types available include the "Thirty Pieces of Silver" shekel for which Judas betrayed Christ (Mat. 27:5); the Widow's Mite (Mark 12:41-44); the famous Tribute Penny (Mat. 22:15-22), and even the type taken from the Fish's Mouth. (Mat. 17:24-27).

Books with helpful information include "Coins of Bible Days," "Coins of the Popes," "Christian Teaching of Coin Mottoes," "Coins & Christianity," and Handy Guide to Jewish Coins."

There are also pieces bearing portraits of Christ, and later specimens show the hand of God extending a crown over the heads of some Christian emperors.

The first such portrait is to be found on a gold coin from the first reign of Justinian II, 686-695 A.D. Another is the Viennese 10 ducats of 1600 which is one of the most artistic pieces of that period. It bears the inscription "Salvator Mundi" or savior of the world. Also, St. John's baptism of Christ is represented on the carlino, a Florentine silver coin issued in 1503-4.

The first dated coin issued by Christians was struck in 1251 by the Crusaders, but the inscriptions and dates were in Arabic, so the coin bore no numerals. The first coins dated in Roman numerals were issued in 1412 at Aix-la-Chapelle, which is now in France.

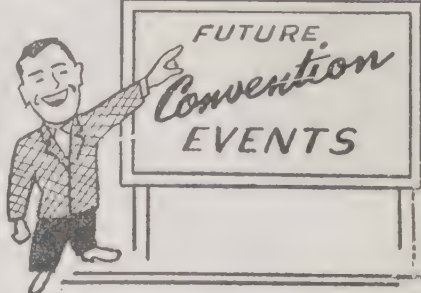

Dear Sir:

I am sending my check for the renewal of my subscription to your magazine. I like it even more now that I get it twice a month.

I have only a small collection of coins.

I just received the July - 1st Edition and noticed on page 2 about the handicapped girl. I too am handicapped from Polio and work from a wheelchair. I work at coins in my spare time and I know what a wonderful hobby it is. The State of Penna. sent me to a clock school and I have a small shop set up here at my home.

"A possible new look in paper currency" was unveiled before the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society at its July meeting. Speaking in San Francisco, Montreal numismatist Harold Don Allen displayed the "Improved Reversible Paper Money" which a Quebec Province pharmacist has been petitioning the Bank of Canada to adopt.

Allen said that he had become interested in the project of Hull, Quebec drug store owner Rene Laflamme when he encountered a Canadian Press dispatch describing the "new look" money which Laflamme had been handing out to members of parliament and other influential Canadians. The "reversible currency", an adaptation of the Bank of Canada design which presents essentially the same appearance back or front, right-side-up or upside-down, was copyrighted by Laflamme as an unpublished work of art, and 4,500 specimens were run off, on four shades of tinted security paper.

Allen told the San Francisco group, during an address on the development of monetary forms, that Laflamme's invention was being viewed at a numismatic meeting for the first time, but that the pharmacist already had received some 2,500 letters requesting specimens of his work.

He said that he was "not at all certain that Canada's conservative central bank" would "go along with the plan", but that the notes, at any rate, would be of distinct collector interest in years to come. Free samples could be obtained (for an addressed, stamped envelope), the group was informed, by writing Laflamme at 44 Eddy Street, Quebec, Canada.

Reader Voices Opinion On Micro Dime

Genlemen:

This letter is in reference to your article on 1945 micro "s" dimes as shown in "CPM" July 1961 - 1st edition.

Cannot understand why you are derating this coin, because its popularity was proved in recent Whitman survey and wish to advise that it is a very definite variety, in fact "more so" than the 1960 "small date" cents.

Furthermore the 1945 micro "s" dimes were minted 15 years ago and are not available by the bag and roll as the 1960 small dates are.

Your article says, quote "Obviously this matter wasn't given proper consideration." That is not true, as they are very much in demand and am sure they will stay in the Redbook. Your prices are way off as per the Redbook & present market prices, as listing in "CPM" page 11 shows them $7.00 in unc. (which is an obsolete price) as I've seen a lot of them change hands for $10.00 to $17.50 each and would say present market price is a strong $15.00 average, as per Peachtree Coin Shop ad. on page 32 of "Coin World" is of July 28, 1961.

The 1945-micro "s" dimes are hard to buy in quantity, even in circulated condition and if you want proof of this fact I will be glad to supply the pertinent information, as I've been trying to buy them in all conditions for the past year or so (which naturally was prior to the time of the announcement that they would be in the new Redbook) and now they are tougher yet.

These dimes will be just as much of a necessity for a complete set of Mercury dimes as is the 42/41 overdate.

—V. F. BERNDT, Wis.

Editor's note:

Our policy is not to derate any coin, person or thing—merely to voice our opinion as you have, and to generally keep our readers' informed. What transpires thereafter is up to readers and collectors whether to accept or reject our findings, surveys or opinions.

The survey mentioned is well and good but in my opinion not practical nor justifiable to the collector. The collector and reader are looking for and expect the people of long-standing experience in the numismatic field to guide them. Every issue or problem isn't subject to a general vote or survey (thus our personal or the countries problems).

The small date 1960 cent is the first of its kind in the cent series of 60 years the popularity and purchases among thousands of collectors and dealers was sufficient evidence. Although the 1945 micro dime was minted 15 years ago means nothing as I've mentioned before microscopic D & S mint marks go back many years and are available in all denominations. Why single one item out as the 45s dime, why not all others! My opinion, and we are all entitled to an opinion, is to buy a sound established coin. Whether this dime will become established remains to be seen. Several months ago I purchased 2 rolls of these dimes as a passing whim, but I still think other varieties deserve a listing before the micro.dime. If you're buying these dimes I suggest an ad in CPM will get you all you want. If you're selling, I doubt if there'll be many takers. I believe it would be to my advantage for this coin to be listed and popular as I have two rolls and my advertising would increase. But my first duty is to our readers and collectors to voice my opinion and truth.

If the price increase warrants it we will increase it, until then it will be stated as is. We pride ourselves if nothing else to print the facts, truth and common sense. We stop no one from buying or reading or believing what they want. A fact our readers may be proud of, we have stuck our necks out many times calling "a spade a spade," and not sugar-coating the blunders in numismatics as others have done. We thank Mr. Berndt for his letter in any event.

We Present
THE OFFICIAL MEDAL
CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL
1861 — 1961

The Coin and Currency Institute, Inc., of New York and California has been appointed sole national distributor of this medal, which commemorates officially the centennial of the Civil War.

It will be available in both bronze and silver about May 31, 1961.

The medal which is 2½" in size, is being issued under authority of the Civil War Centennial Commission, which was created by Act of Congress. The medal will be struck by the Medallion Art Company from designs and sculptor's models that have been approved by the U.S. Government Fine Arts Commission in Washington, D.C.

As can be seen from the above illustration, the obverse bears the portraits of General Ulysses S. Grant and General Robert E. Lee. The reverse shows the seal of the Civil War Centennial Commission, having as its main theme, a Union and Confederate soldier. The medal will be sold in its own specially made container and will come with a printed, informative leaflet.

In addition to the bronze medal, there will be an issue of pure silver medals, which will be limited to 25,000 serially numbered pieces. The purity of the silver will be greater than .999.

The official prices of the Civil War Centennial Medal are as follows:

The Bronze medal	$ 4.00
The pure silver medal	30.00

(Please note: Because of the limited issue the silver medals are offered subject to being sold out. Those wishing a silver medal should place their order now. Earlier this year many thousands were disappointed when their orders for silver Inaugural medals were placed too late. Because of the overwhelming national interest in the Civil War, it is expected that the silver medals will be quickly sold out.)

The bronze and silver medals will be available about May 31, 1961 at your local coin and stamp dealer, department store coin counters, hobby shops etc., or you may write to either our New York or California office. Established dealers wishing to carry this medal for resale should write to us at once for our terms.
